The Family Theatre Series brings professional touring children's productions to the Eisemann Center with a lineup of shows that promises to excite, entertain, educate and amaze our youngest patrons. All Family Theatre Series performances will be held in the Hill Performance Hall.

Hill Performance Hall Spotlight Series

Featuring an eclectic collage of dance, music and theatre in the Eisemann Center's concert space, the Spotlight Series kicks off with "Girls Night: The Musical" with four performances Oct. 23-25. "Girls Night" is a tell-it-like-it-is look at five friends as they relive their past, celebrate their present and look to the future on a wild and hilarious karaoke night out ... and you'll recognize every one of them! "Girls Night" is bursting with energy and is packed with every female anthem you can think of including "Girls Just Want to Have Fun," "I Will Survive" and "Say a Little Prayer."

The Smothers Brothers

Second in the series is The Smothers Brothers at 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 22. Time has been an essential ingredient in the Smothers Brothers' success. Tom and Dick Smothers—masters of timing and practitioners of timeless comedy—were considered ahead of their time with their highly popular prime-time television show in the 1960s. Now, on the eve of their 50th anniversary as show business professionals, the Smothers Brothers are saluted as time-honored legends, whose lengthy career has surpassed all other comedy teams in history. With their singular blend of comedic and musical talents, the irrepressible brothers have made a sweeping impact on diverse generations of fans.

Last seen at the Eisemann Center in June 2005, The Manhattan Transfer returns with two special Christmas shows at 8 p.m. Monday, Dec. 15 and Tuesday, Dec. 16. Celebrating their 35th anniversary in 2008, the Grammy-winning pop and jazz group has recently released a two-disc retrospective of their greatest hits, "The Definitive Pop Collection." With two Christmas CDs in their catalog as well, this concert is sure to be another holiday sell-out at the Eisemann Center. The Manhattan Transfer will perform with a 25-piece orchestra featuring musicians from the Richardson Symphony Orchestra.

Appearing at 8 p.m. Friday, Jan. 30, is "Simply Sinatra" starring Steve Lippia. Lippia has become one of the most prominent, in-demand vocalists in the country. He has quickly established himself as one of the finest interpreters of the great American classic standards and adult contemporary pop music in the nation. His high-impact, high-energy show ranges from powerful to subtle, sassy to wistful, elegant to sublime. Lippia's voice, stage presence and charisma have thrilled audiences where he has headlined at major venues in Las Vegas, Atlantic City, New York City, Europe and symphonies across the U.S. Las Vegas Style remarked, "Steve Lippia is...the talk of Las Vegas...he has an impeccable vocal instrument."

In partnership with the UTD School of Arts & Humanities, Lily Cai Chinese Dance Company will appear in a public performance of "Dynasties and Beyond" at 8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 7 while conducting a two-week residency of workshops and master classes in dance on the UTD campus and other locations throughout the community. Elegant, sensual and captivating, the Lily Cai Chinese Dance Company melds ancient Chinese forms with modern dance in an artistic and inventive marriage of styles. Michelle Thames receives NCTCOG management award

Richardson Assistant City Manager Michelle Thames was honored with the Linda Keithley Award for Women in Public Management by the North Central Texas Council of Governments (NCTCOG) in June.

Michelle Thames

In 1986, NCTCOG established the Linda Keithley Award to be presented each year at NCTCOG's Annual General Assembly Meeting. The award honors the dedicated professionalism of Linda Keithley during her 17 years of service to the Council of Governments. The award recognizes a woman who displays the Linda Keithley traits of integrity, dignity, poise, loyalty, commitment, and dedication while serving as a faithful public servant. Any woman who is employed as a full-time public management professional (professional position in local, state, or federal government) in the 16-county North Central Texas region is eligible for the award.

In his introductory remarks, outgoing NCTCOG president Chad Adams, County Judge for Ellis County, praised Thames "for her ability to build trust, mutual respect and cooperation among her peers, staff, and the public." Thames was recognized for her project leadership and management, her mentoring and leadership with young professionals and for her community involvement.

Thames joined the City of Richardson staff in May 1991 and serves as Assistant City Manager-Administrative Services. Thames has administrative responsibilities for Human Resources, the Richardson Public Library, the Budget Office, Franchise and Regulatory Affairs, Information Services, Emergency Management, Citizens Information Services and Citizens Information Television. Thames also has administrative oversight of the Charles W. Eisemann Center for Performing Arts & Corporate Presentations. Thames works closely with the community's arts organizations, serving as the staff liaison to the Richardson Arts Commission.

tunes, original music and multi-media designs. Established in 1988 by Lily Cai, the Company performs and tours extensively throughout California and the United States, appearing at major performing arts venues, festivals, university theaters, schools, community centers and special events. In 1994, the Company opened the Grateful Dead's concert celebrating the Year of the Dog at the Oakland Coliseum, and in 1995 performed for United Nations' 50th anniversary celebration in San Francisco.

Taking the Hill Performance Hall stage Saturday, Feb. 28, is country music star Larry Gatlin's original theatrical production, "Look Homeward Honky Tonk Angel." Described as "Kiss Me, Kate" meets the Grand Ole Opry, the show was written in collaboration with Anthony Dodge and Marcia Millgrom Dodge. "Look Homeward Honky Tonk Angel" centers on "country music legend Jimmy John Angel's reunion concert with his ex-wife and even bigger star, Dixie Diamond," according to press notes. "Jimmy John's life of unscrupulous trickery—on stage and off—is exposed in this hysterical new musical."

Rounding out the Spotlight Series is the always spectacular Paul Taylor Dance Company in its fourth appearance March 21 at the Eisemann Center. Planned educational residency activities include a master class, attended technical rehearsal with narrative from the company manager and a pre-performance lecture. In 2006, The Dallas Morning News said, "Paul Taylor Dance Company is perhaps the most beloved and respected modern dance company in the world, famous for Mr. Taylor's wit, its sunny expansiveness, its all-American optimism and its occasional forays into darkness and gloom."

Theatre Comedy Series

Featuring weeklong runs of four hilarious productions all set in the intimate 368-seat Countrywide Theatre, the series begins with Salvage Vanguard Theater's production of "The Intergalactic Nemesis" Oct. 30-Nov. 2. "The Intergalactic Nemesis" takes place in a radio studio in 1933 with the theatre patrons playing the part of the studio audience. Pulitzer prize-winning reporter Molly Sloan and her intrepid assistant Timmy Mendez are hot on the trail of a story. When a mysterious stranger saves their lives, they discover the story they were seeking is much bigger than they could have possibly imagined! It's "Star Wars" meets "Raiders of the Lost Ark" with a little Flash Gordon thrown in for good measure. And it rocks! The Austin American-Statesman put it this way: "Ladies and gentlemen, boys and girls, earthlings and aliens, witness an amazing event as Salvage Vanguard Theater brings a blast from the past with 'The Intergalactic Nemesis'...perfect live entertainment."

Next in the lineup is the hysterical holiday comedy from everyone's favorite nun—"Sister's Christmas Catechism: The Mystery of the Magi's Gold" running Dec. 16-21 for eight fun-filled performances. Sister's back and it's not "The Nutcracker" and it's not "A Christmas Carol," but it is the must-see comedy addition to everyone's holiday traditions as Sister attempts to solve the mystery of the Magi's Gold using audience members as part of a living nativity scene. The Philadelphia Inquirer says, "Watch out, wise men: Sister's a wiseacre!"

Appearing Feb. 12-15 is the off-Broadway hit "Mother Load," written by performer Amy Wilson. "Mother Load" is an insightful exposé of the cutthroat world of competitive parenting. Modern motherhood, this show tells us, is not for sissies. Moms have always felt the pressure to do right by their children, but the new generation of parents has turned that pressure up to 11. In a world where a toddler's birthday party must be catered, a stroller costs $800 and there's a new danger in your child's toy box every week, how can a mother keep from losing her mind? From prenatal yoga to preschool interviews, the heroine of this show struggles to throw off the "Mother Load" of unrealistic expectations, ignore the competitive "sanctimommies" lurking in every playgroup, and somehow find the time to enjoy her kids.

Rounding out the Theatre Comedy Series lineup March 26-29 is "My Mother's Italian, My Father's Jewish & I'm in Therapy" written and performed by author/comedian Steve Solomon. This hit Broadway show is receiving critical acclaim to sold-out audiences from New York to Phoenix. It's filled with hilarious stories about Solomon's wacky family and the crazy characters that he meets on the road whose sole purpose is to drive him into therapy...and they have succeeded. Solomon creates voices, dialects and sound effects which make the stories and jokes come alive. And there are a few musical surprises along the way.

Family Theatre Series

The new Family Theatre series kicks off with "Lazer Vaudeville" Sunday, Sept. 28. "Lazer Vaudeville" combines high-tech laser magic with the traditional arts of vaudeville to create an original production that has had a successful run on Broadway. Complete with superlative juggling, black light illusion, acrobatics, zany comedy and audience participation, "Lazer Vaudeville" offers clean, classy fun for the entire family. A cast of fantastical characters leads the audience on a journey through the imagination as a wizard creates magical illusions with laser beams, a neon cowboy kicks up a luminescent rope-spinning display and an audience member escapes from a straitjacket.

"Pinkalicious: The Musical" is straight from the pages of the best-selling children's book by Elizabeth and Victoria Kann and will be at the Eisemann Center Oct. 19. Pinkalicious can't stop eating pink cupcakes despite warnings from her parents. Her pink indulgence lands her at the doctor's office with Pinkitis, an affliction that turns her pink from head to toe—a dream come true for this pink-loving enthusiast. But when her hue goes too far, only Pinkalicious can figure out a way to get out of this predicament.

Next on the Family Theatre Series roster is "Pinocchio" Nov. 23. Through the magic of live musical theatre, the all-time favorite "Pinocchio" comes to life on the Hill Performance Hall stage in a delightful production from American Family Theater. Outrageous escapades are in store for Pinocchio, Geppetto's irresistible puppet-son as he travels from carnival to Candyland in the belly of a whale. Join in merriment as this classic tale comes to life with exuberance and song.

"Stellaluna" will be produced as a puppet show by Kid's Entertainment Jan. 18. Baby bat Stellaluna's life is flitting along right on schedule—until an owl attacks her mother one night, knocking the bewildered batlet out of her mother's loving grasp. Literally. Stellaluna's adoptive bird mom accepts her into her nest, but only on the condition that Stellaluna will act like a bird, not a bat. Soon Stellaluna has learned to behave like a good bird should—she quits hanging by her feet and starts eating bugs. Anyone who has ever been asked to be someone they're not will understand the conflicts and possibilities that Stellaluna faces.

American Family Theater's production of "Pippi Longstocking" comes to the Eisemann Center Feb. 15. The strongest, most outrageous girl in the world, Pippi Longstocking is Astrid Lindgren's irrepressible, freckle-faced heroine who returns to wreak havoc on Mrs. Prysselius, Kling and Klang, her pals Annika and Tommy and the rest of the denizens of her otherwise sleepy village.

The Family Theatre Series will wrap up the '08-'09 season April 15 with the ArtsPower National Touring Theatre in "From the Mixed-Up Files of Mrs. Basil E. Frankweiler." To celebrate the 40th anniversary of E.L. Konigsburg's Newbery Medal-winning classic, ArtsPower has created an enchanting new drama that follows Claudia Kincaid and her brother Jamie up the stone steps of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and right into the middle of an adventure sure to captivate patrons of all ages!

Richardson Public Services Director Jerry Ortega (at left with microphone) discusses the recycling process with students from St. Paul the Apostle Catholic School. The City of Richardson Public Services staff invited 1st and 2nd grade students from St. Paul, Jess Harben and Dover elementary schools to City Hall May 22 to participate in various activities designed to educate the students about the importance of recycling and how public works impact everyone's daily life.

Children's event marks National Public Works Week

In honor of National Public Works Week, the City of Richardson Public Services staff invited 1st and 2nd grade students from schools in Richardson to City Hall May 22 to a recycling event designed to teach them the importance of recycling and how public works impact everyone's daily life.

National Public Works Week recognizes the tens of thousands of men and women in North America who provide and maintain infrastructure and services collectively known as public works. National Public Works Week is designed as a public education program campaign by the American Public Works Association (APWA), and is observed every year during the third week of May.

This year the National Public Works Week theme was "The Future is Now" and to celebrate, the City of Richardson's Public Services staff created a recycling program designed for kids to learn about public works and recycling while having fun at the same time. Some of the activities included a recycling sort, soda can toss, recycling questions and plastic bottle line up. The kids also got to see a recycling truck up close and what recyclable items look like after they have been sorted at a recycling processing facility.

The most exciting part of the day was the obstacle course. Demonstrated by the City's recycling mascot, Richie (who was introduced for the first time at the event), kids had to sort recyclables from trash, "free throw" soda cans into a recycling bin, eat worms (candy, of course) and find items in a recycled sand dig.

According to Public Services Director Jerry Ortega, living green is vital, and people of all ages should find ways to make living green a part of their daily lives. "Just like learning their ABCs, we must now all learn and live our 4-Rs: 'Reduce, Reuse and Recycle in Richardson.' The kids loved the event and we all enjoyed making their field trip a fun and rewarding one!"

Special Projects Coordinator Michelle Mann wants this event to keep getting bigger and better for years to come. "This was our first time putting together an environmental event for kids," she said. "The event was a huge success, and we hope to make this event a permanent part of our National Public Works Week."

Summer calls for special skin care

Skin cancer is the most common of all cancer types. There are more than 1 million skin cancers (melanoma and non-melanoma) diagnosed each year in the United States. That's more than prostate, breast, lung, colon, uterus, ovaries and pancreas cancer combined. And the number of skin cancers has been on the rise steadily for the past 30 years.

The good news is that there is a lot you can do to protect yourself and your family from skin cancer. Most skin cancers are caused by too much exposure to the sun's ultraviolet rays, but some may come from artificial sources, such as tanning beds.

Prevention

The best ways to lower the risk of skin cancer are to avoid intense sunlight for long periods of time and to practice sun safety. You can continue to exercise and enjoy the outdoors while practicing sun safety at the same time.

- Avoid the sun between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.
- Seek shade: Look for shade, especially in the middle of the day when the sun's rays are strongest. Practice the shadow rule and teach it to children. If your shadow is shorter than you, the sun's rays are at their strongest.

- Slip on a shirt: Cover up with protective clothing to guard as much skin as possible when you are out in the sun. Choose comfortable clothes made of tightly woven fabrics that you cannot see through when held up to a light.
- Slop on sunscreen: Use sunscreen with a sun protection factor (SPF) of 15 or higher. Apply a generous amount (about a palmful) and reapply after swimming, toweling dry, or perspiring. Use sunscreen even on hazy or overcast days.
- Slap on a hat: Cover your head with a wide-brimmed hat, shading your face, ears, and neck. If you choose a baseball cap, remember to protect your ears and neck with sunscreen.
- Wear sunglasses with 99-100 percent UV absorption to provide optimal protection for the eyes and the surrounding skin.

Follow these practices to protect your skin even on cloudy or overcast days. UV rays travel through clouds.

Early detection

Skin cancer can be found early, and both doctors and patients play important roles in finding skin cancer. If you have any of the following symptoms, tell your doctor.

- any change on the skin, especially in the size or color of a mole or other darkly pigmented growth or spot, or a new growth
- scaliness, oozing, bleeding, or change in the appearance of a bump or nodule
- the spread of pigmentation beyond its border such as dark coloring that spreads past the edge of a mole or mark
- a change in sensation, itchiness, tenderness or pain

False burglar alarms preventable with precautions

What is a false alarm?

When a police officer responds to an alarm activation and, after investigation, finds no evidence that criminal activity either had occurred or was occurring, the officer will designate the alarm signal as a false alarm.

Important facts about false alarms

The Richardson Police Department responded to 5,545 false alarms in 2007.

At an average cost of $74 for each incident, false alarms cost the City of Richardson over $410,300 in 2007.

The Richardson Police Department responds to false alarms as if they are actual felonies. Due to the danger associated with such a call, a minimum of two officers are dispatched. Each time police units respond to an alarm, their availability for other community needs is interrupted. Personnel costs, equipment use and vehicle wear associated with each call are significant. That time and effort could cost someone in real need a lot more—their life! That's why anyone who has a security system is required to register it with the City of Richardson. Registration helps police track false alarms and hold alarm users accountable.

Do I have to have a permit?

Yes, Richardson City Ordinance #2883-A requires a permit for each residential and commercial site.

Permits are $30 per year and can be obtained online (www.cor.net/pd) or in person at City Hall.

Failure to secure a permit from the City may result in fines of up to $500 for each offense.

Why do false alarms happen?

Unfortunately, almost all false alarms are preventable. Some of the common causes for false alarms include:

- User error and lack of training
- Cleaning crews
- Visitors, repair technicians, etc.
- Unlocked or loose doors
- Equipment malfunction

What should I do before activating my alarm system?

Are you and others who use the alarm system fully educated on its proper operation? This may include cleaning crews, children, neighbors, employees and temporary staff.

Make sure you securely close and lock all protected doors and windows.

If you are leaving your home or business, make sure the door you leave by is closed tight.

Keep pets, fans, heaters, balloons, etc. away from motion detectors.

Know and rehearse the process to cancel an accidental alarm. Anyone with your key should know this process.

Know how much time you have after you arm your system to leave and to disarm your system when you enter.

Obtain the City permit.

Know what to do if you set off your alarm by accident

First, do not panic. Enter your disarm code (carefully!) to reset your system.

Wait for your alarm company or central monitoring station to call, give your password or ID card number.

Do not leave your home or business until you have talked with your monitoring station. If they do not call you, have the number posted by your keypad and contact them to cancel the police dispatch. Do not call 911 to cancel an alarm activation. You must call your monitoring station.

You can arrange to have your alarm monitoring station first call you or another designated person before the police are called whenever your alarm is activated. If you are aware of a problem with the system, you can call the alarm monitoring station to cancel the police dispatch.

If you have any apprehensions about using your alarm system, call your alarm company today. Help the police reduce the unnecessary response and enhance the effectiveness of your alarm system. Do your part to prevent false alarms!

For more information about alarms, call the Richardson Police Department Crime Prevention Unit at 972-744-4955.

From the Fire Marshal

Lighters as dangerous as matches

Fires, burns and property damage associated with children playing with matches are common events in the United States and a number of programs and procedures have been developed to try to control this problem. In the past few years, a new source of ignition has become very common—the novelty cigarette lighter.

With the increase in the use of lighters rather than matches, lighter-related fires and burns associated with misuse by children have increased. There also seems to be an alteration in the age distribution. In many cases, lighters are easier to ignite than matches, so younger children more frequently are involved in lighter-associated fires/burns. Several reports now have implicated children as young as 18-20 months old.

Children have a natural curiosity about fire. It has a magical appeal, which captures their attention. They see adults start the barbecue or light a cigarette. Since they mimic adults in many ways, they want to mimic fire-starting behavior as well. Children's curiosity about fire should not be discouraged, but channeled into appropriate behavior.

Children are at high risk for burn injuries largely due to their own experimentation with matches and fire. Since children have difficulty appreciating the use of matches as a tool, they most often will misuse them. Children need to understand that big fires start small. They need to distinguish between appropriate and inappropriate use of matches and lighters. They also need to understand the risks and dangers associated with their use.

Young children should not handle matches and lighters and they should be taught that they should "tell an adult" when they find matches or lighters in their environment. They should be taught to "leave matches and lighters where they find them" and "get an adult to come back and pick them up." This avoids the problem of a child handling matches or a lighter and possibly attempting to ignite either.

Children can easily identify tools in the home or workplace. They understand that a tool can be used a right way and a wrong way. A hammer is used to drive nails into wood, and a saw is used to cut lumber.

A match is also a tool. It can be used the right way, or a wrong way. Using a match to light a barbecue, start a fire in the fireplace, or ignite the pilot light on the water heater are proper ways to use a match.

Be sure the child knows that matches and lighters are tools, not toys. Toys that look like lighters should not be given to children. Adults have been known to give a lighter that no longer works to children to play with.

This should not happen since the child doesn't know the difference between a lighter that works and one that doesn't.

Many fires have been caused by children playing with matches or lighters due to curiosity, carelessness or anger. Telling a child, "Don't play with matches," may not have the desired effect, and in fact, may encourage the opposite. In some cases, children may exhibit more than just a simple interest in fire and may frequently discuss or experiment with it. Sometimes when a child has a problem with starting fires or playing with fire, the child is responding to problems in the home, at school or with peers. Fire-setting problems can be prevented if identified early and the child is provided with professional counseling. If you discover burnt matches or paper, or believe a child has been playing with lighters or setting fires, call the Richardson Fire Department Fire Marshals office at 972-744-5750 and ask about our Youth Firesetter Intervention Program.

Here are safety rules that adults should be aware of concerning matches and lighters.

- Buy matchbooks that have a striking surface on the back cover.
- Close the cover of the matchbook or box before striking the match.
- Strike a match away from the direction of the body.
- When striking a match, hold it an arm's length away.
- Only use matches or lighters when nothing else is distracting you.
- Matches or lighters are very dangerous around flammable liquids such as gasoline.
- A wastebasket is not an ashtray.
- Throw a match away only after the flame is extinguished and cool to the touch.
- Check your lighter regularly for cracks, leaks and other defects.
- If lighter fluid is spilled on or near the lighter, it should be cleaned off completely before lighting the flame.
- Persons with restricted mobility or reflexes and elderly persons must use extra caution with lighters and matches.

New city venues appeal to young professionals

by Bill Sproull, President and CEO
Richardson Chamber of Commerce

Young professionals of Richardson are finding that their crowd of adults is expanding and will continue to do so as places for them develop in which to live, work and play. These new venues have many things that appeal to young professionals...music, dining, shopping, close-to-work apartment living and places just to hang out with friends. Richardson is becoming the urban scene purposely designed to touch all ages, a delicate balance that is rich in character.

Two of Richardson's exciting new mixed-use developments that cater to young professionals are now open. Both provide an upscale, urban setting for young professionals and "empty-nesters" working in the Telecom Corridor® or for those who want to be near DART to commute downtown.

The Venue, located in Galatyn Park across from the Eisemann Center and the Galatyn Park DART station, began taking tenant applications in March and is now more than 25 percent leased. Milestone Management, which manages and leases the property for developer Legacy Partners, said that leasing activity is going well.

Eastside at Campbell and US 75 began leasing April 1. Occupants started moving into the first building in May and other buildings will open later this summer and towards the end of 2008. Frost Bank and several restaurants, including Panera Bread and Boudreaux's Cajun Kitchen have signed leases with more to come.

Brick Row, Richardson's third mixed-use, transit-oriented development, is located next to the Spring Valley DART station on Spring Valley extending to Greenville Avenue, the original street known as "Brick Row." Groundbreaking on this $140 million development took place April 3. Developers Winston Capital, David Weekley Homes and L&B Realty Advisors expect to complete the apartments and townhomes in about a year. Condominiums will be added in 2009-2010.

When young professionals crave food and fun, Richardson is adding some of the best venues to enjoy. Bordeaux's Cajun Restaurant, Shuck N Jive, Austin Avenue Grill, Stone Horse Grill, FreeBirds, Which Wich and Callisto's Bar and Grill join hip places like Fox & Hound and McCarty's.

The Chamber formed a Richardson Young Professionals group last year. It hosts monthly networking happy hour events at the local hot spots. The group has also taken private tours of the Eisemann Center,

Richardson Regional's new Cancer Center, UTD's Motion Capture Lab, and volunteered at such events as the Wild Ride, Kiwanis Angel League, Richardson Trash

Bash and the RISD Back to School Fair. For more information, visit the Chamber's Web site at <http://www.richardsonchamber.com/events/richardson-young-professionals>.

Free Compost Seminar

Saturday, July 12
10 a.m. to noon
City of Richardson Service Center
1260 Columbia Dr., Richardson
FREE

Backyard composting helps save landfill space by not allowing grass clippings and leaves to enter the solid waste stream. Instead, these materials are transformed from yard waste into valuable nutrients for the yard and flowerbeds. This seminar is intended for beginner composters as well as more advanced composters. Participants in this seminar will learn the basics of backyard composting, as well as advanced tips and techniques through a series of slides and instruction presented by Mary Tynes.

Tynes is a nationally known expert on backyard composting and is the site editor of www.mastercomposter.com. She also publishes the newsletter "Digging Deeper Into the Pile," which provides helpful tips, information on controlling pests, experiment results, suggested projects for scouts or students, methods for hard-to-compost items, information, book and video reviews. Tynes has also spoken extensively at local and national composting events. Help the environment and help your landscape by attending this free seminar. Please contact Ryan Delzell at 972-744-4404 to make reservations, as space is limited for this event.

Safe, high-quality drinking water right from your tap

The following information is provided by the City of Richardson as a good and effective communications tool for its citizens that will satisfy the need for information about their water. This Consumer Confidence Report (CCR) complies with Federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) requirements.

Richardson Water Utility employees take pride in delivering safe and "superior" quality drinking water to our customers. "Superior" is the rating of our water system by the TCEQ. This rating reflects the hard work and efforts of our employees to protect your health by delivering and maintaining a safe and reliable drinking water and the North Texas Municipal Water District (NTMWD) for producing a high quality drinking water.

The Water Utilities department is a municipal water distribution and wastewater collection utility owned by the City of Richardson. Wholesale treated water is purchased from the NTMWD at three "take points." The district draws raw water from Lake Lavon. Additional water from both Lake Chapman and Lake Texoma is also available.

The pumping and storage system is comprised of five pump stations, seven ground storage tanks and seven elevated storage tanks. The storage capacity is 36.25 million gallons with a pumping capacity of 98.9 million gallons per day. The water distribution system is comprised of 475.45 miles of water mains with 3,557 fire hydrants and 32,824 metered service connections.

Each day, the city tests the water in the distribution system at various points in the city to ensure water is reaching the residents in good condition. The sources of drinking water, both tap water and bottled water may contain contaminants. As water travels over the land's surface or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and picks up substances from animal or human activity.

Contaminants that may be in untreated water include; organic chemicals from industrial or petroleum use; and or radioactive materials. The NTMWD conducts daily tests on the raw water in Lake Lavon, water in process and the finished water.

The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate the water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.

Good watershed management by each of us to keep contaminants out of our lakes and waterways is cheaper and easier than removing them later at the treatment plant.

Grassy, Earthy Taste and Odor

The North Texas summer climate normally consists of high temperatures and trace amounts of rainfall. The high temperatures and lack of rainfall create an ideal environment for algae to bloom in surface water supplies.

Each summer, throughout the months of July and August, lakes and other surface water supplies experience a natural event—an "algal bloom." Algal blooms are common to surface water supplies in warm weather climate states like Texas.

As hot summer temperatures warm the reservoirs, the lack of rainfall lessens the turbidity and allows the sunlight to penetrate the water. With the increase in water temperature and the lack of turbidity, photosynthesis will occur providing the right environment for algae to reproduce or "bloom."

When an algal bloom exists, there is the possibility for a grassy, earthy taste in the treated drinking water supply. This event, although aesthetically undesirable to the public, does not alter the high quality of water provided to the cities and communities for their use.

NTMWD laboratory personnel monitor the raw water quality from Lake Lavon prior to its treatment. One of the many analyses performed is an algal count. Laboratory personnel, through this daily activity, can determine the onset of an algal bloom.

The blue green algae species Nostoc and Anabaena, as they reproduce or "bloom," produce an oily organic substance. It is this organic substance that is responsible for the change in taste and odor of the treated drinking water.

NTMWD uses several steps to control the taste and odor produced. To reduce the unpleasant taste levels, activated carbon is used as an absorption medium. Potassium permanganate is added as an oxidizing agent to reduce the odor associated with an algal bloom. Both of these chemicals are removed during the treatment process prior to its delivery to the cities.

Chlorine is used throughout the treatment process as a strong disinfectant. Chlorine also aids in odor reduction during times of algal blooms.

The quality of water remains high as regulated by the TCEQ and EPA standards. The treated water remains safe for human consumption with no health risks created by the "algal blooms."

Cryptosporidium

Cryptosporidium is a microscopic intestinal parasite found naturally in the environment. It is spread by human and animal waste. If ingested, it can cause flu-like and gastrointestinal symptoms. Outbreaks have been most commonly associated with person-to-person (day care center) and waterborne (drinking and recreational water) spread of the parasite. Foodborne and animal (especially calves)-to-person spread has also been documented. Not everyone exposed to the organism becomes ill.

No specific drug therapy has proven to be effective, but people with healthy immune systems will usually recover within two weeks. Individuals with weak immune systems, however, may be unable to clear the parasite and suffer chronic and debilitating illness.

The NTMWD tests for Cryptosporidium in both the raw lake water and the treated water.

Special information for people with weakened immune systems: Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immunocompromised persons—such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly people and infants—can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (1-800-426-4791).

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG)—The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health.

TT (Treatment Technique)—A required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Action Level—The concentration of a contaminant which if exceeded triggers a treatment or other requirement a water system must follow.

ppm—Parts per million. One part per million equals one packet of artificial sweetener sprinkled into 250 gallons of iced tea.

ppb—Parts per billion. One part per billion is equal to one packet of artificial sweetener sprinkled into an Olympic-size swimming pool.

pCi/L—Pico curies per liter is a measure of radioactivity in water. A pico curie is 10 to the minus 12 curies and is the quantity of radioactive material producing 2.22 nuclear transformations per minute.

NTU—Nephelometric Turbidity Units. This is the unit used to measure water turbidity.

MRDL—Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level—highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water.

MRDLG—Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal—the level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known expected risk to health.

Dance teachers train in ballet, tap, jazz and hip hop

Dance programs at Richardson's Recreation Centers are thriving. Both Centers staged dance recitals for tiny to tall dancers at Berkner High School (Huffhines) and Richardson High School (Heights).

Most summer dance sessions started in June, but dance camps are available at Huffhines in late July and early August. The full schedule of dance classes for fall and spring semesters begins in September and ends in fun recitals for all students. The fall issue of Recreation Today should be in mailboxes in early August, which is when registration begins for fall.

Belinda Smith teaches dance at Huffhines where she instructs in ballet, jazz, tap, hip hop and spirit and dance.

At Heights, dance instructor Robin Horn has been teaching for 30 years while her daughter Holly Baxter has been teaching at the Center for the past 10 years. Robin and Holly come from a long line of dancers and dance teachers. Robin's grandmother and mother were both dancers and Robin lived in a dance studio in Indianapolis until she was 16 years old. Robin started teaching dance at Heights 30 years ago when she moved to Richardson and continues to teach one day per week even though she has now moved to Coppell.

Holly graduated with honors from University of Texas at Dallas in May and hopes to teach elementary school this fall while continuing to teach a few dance classes at Heights.

"It is very hard to give up teaching dance here," Holly said. "This has been my life for the past 10 years and I grew up in this place."

The long-time teachers say they can't go anywhere in the city without being recognized by their students, but sometimes the students are baffled by seeing them in a different context. "They'll say, 'what are you doing here' when they see us in the grocery store," Robin recalled with a smile.

Holly and Robin tap danced together in a Heights recital in November 2001, just one month after Holly's daughter Taylor was born.

Heights Recreation Center staff members are seeking dance instructors to continue the fine dance tradition at the center. If you are interested, please call 972-744-7850.

STITCHING FOR SCHOLARSHIPS—Richardson Director of Parks and Recreation Michael Massey poses with Jerrri Sihvonen and Jan Eby at the Richardson Senior Center. Ms. Sihvonen created a quilt square for a larger Texas-themed quilt being assembled by the Texas Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Ms. Sihvonen's entirely hand-stitched square represents the James Billingsley chapter of the organization and depicts Richardson and its annual Wildflower! Arts and Music Festival. Ms. Eby teaches quilting at the Senior Center and assisted Ms. Shivonen with the project. The Texas DAR quilt will be displayed Oct. 30-Nov. 2 at the Houston International Quilt Festival, one of the largest and most prestigious quilt shows in the U.S. The entire queen-sized quilt including 30 squares surrounding a State of Texas center square will be raffled by the DAR at the TSDAR state conference in 2009. Proceeds will benefit the DAR's youth scholarship fund.

Children's department gets new leader, programs

Some might say the Richardson Library's Children's Department is going to the dogs. But it's a good thing!

Several months ago, the Youth Services Department at the Library acquired stuffed dogs in little carriers that are available for check-out. Children can take the toys home and read their favorite books to them. "We can't keep them on the shelves," said Richardson's new Children's Librarian Tamara Golubski.

In June, the Library staff decided to take the program a step farther and scheduled "Tales for Tails," Sunday afternoon sessions for children to read to real dogs from 3-4 p.m. in the Children's Program Room on the first floor of the Library.

The dogs are from the Heart of Texas Therapy Dogs organization that employs volunteers and their dogs for a variety of programs in schools, libraries and nursing homes.

"Children who are reluctant readers have more confidence when they are reading to dogs," Golubski explained. The dogs are nonjudgmental and seem to listen intently.

Tales for Tails is scheduled 3-4 p.m. July 6, 13, 20, 27 and Aug. 3. No registration is required, but do pick up a ticket at the Children's Desk.

New Youth Services Librarian

Golubski took over the reins of the Youth Services Department at the Library after long-time Youth Services Librarian Susan Allison was promoted to Assistant Director of Library Services.

She moved to Richardson about a year ago from Kansas City, Mo., where she had worked in libraries for more than seven years. "Richardson residents should be very proud of their Library," Golubski said. "It is a wonderful facility with an excellent staff." She said she hopes to improve the efficiency of services in the Children's Department and to market and promote those services. "People are amazed that we actually catalog books created through the 'Young Authors' program," Golubski said. Through that long-standing summer program, students in grades 5 through 9 write and illustrate books for young children that are incorporated into the Library's collection.

Prior to becoming the head of the Children's Department, Golubski worked in Adult Fiction and co-created the new "BOOKbabble" discussion groups that meet on the second and/or third Wednesday of the month from 10:30 a.m. to noon. Pre-registration is required by calling Janet Vance at 972-744-4350.

For more information about programs and services in the Children's Department, call 972-744-4358. For programs and services in the rest of the Library, call 972-744-4350.
