AWARD WINNERS—Each recipient was given an award certificate during a ceremony at City Hall. The judging committee poses with one of the award-winning families. From left, Council Member Bob Townsend, Chamber of Commerce Rep. Bonnie Perry, City Plan Commissioners Steve Mitchell and John DeMattia, the Cline family including Christian, landscape architect Vicki Mynhier, Rob, Garrett and Carla Cline and City Council Member Tom Rohm.

Five residences, an apartment community, a hotel, a restaurant, a shopping center and three Richardson business establishments were honored in the seventh Revitalization Awards program sponsored by the City of Richardson. The program allows the City to say "thank you" to property owners who have made a positive impact on their properties and the community through enhancement, improvement or redevelopment efforts. The judging committee was comprised of Richardson City Council Members Tom Rohm and Bob Townsend, City Plan Commissioners John DeMattia and Steve Mitchell and Bonnie Perry of the Richardson Symphony representing the Chamber of Commerce. The committee visited 15 nominated projects and selected the following 12 properties:
